We added two options on the main page under the section named "any questions". To send a message to the admin for help, the user clicks on the "Client" button.

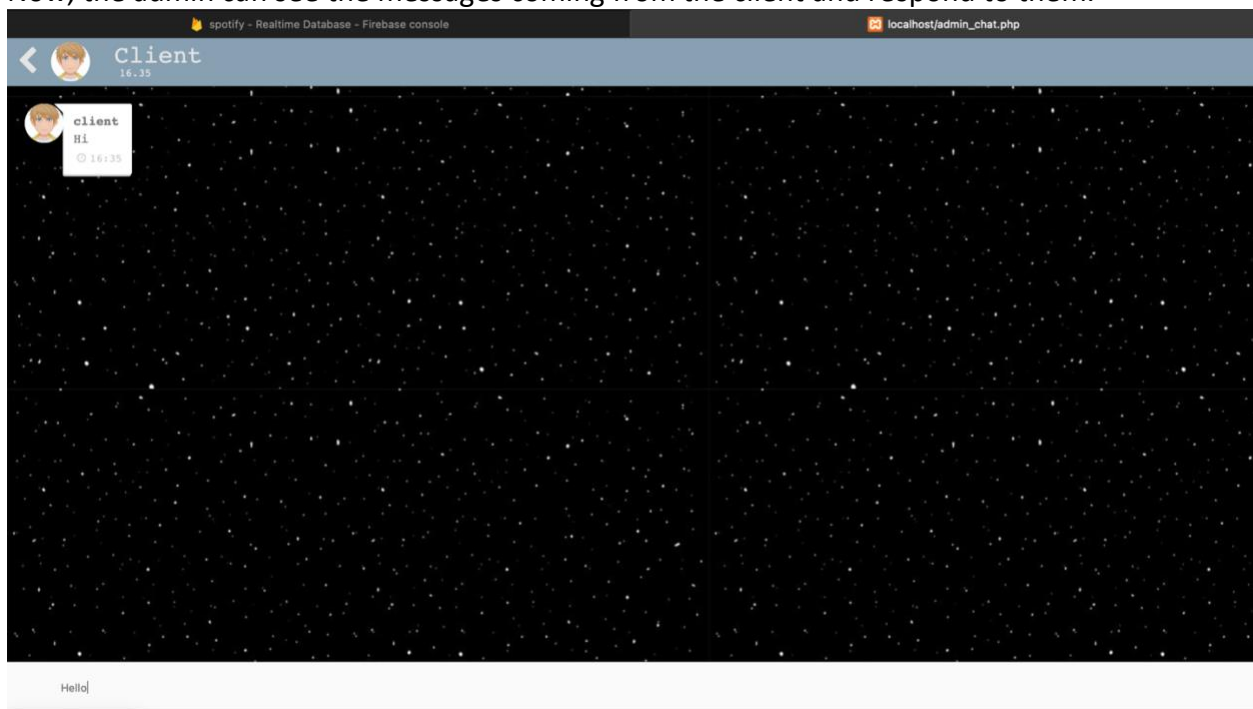

The page below shows up and the client can type their message to the chat box and press enter.
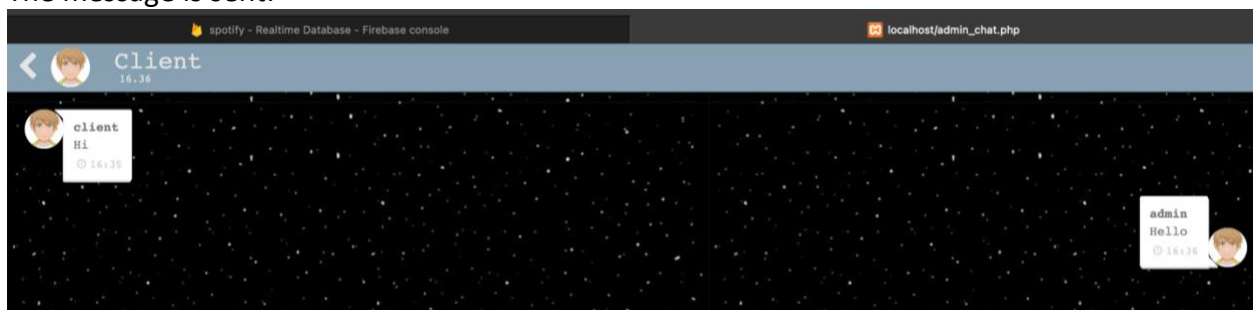

The admin can click on the "Admin" button to see the messages that are coming from the user/client.

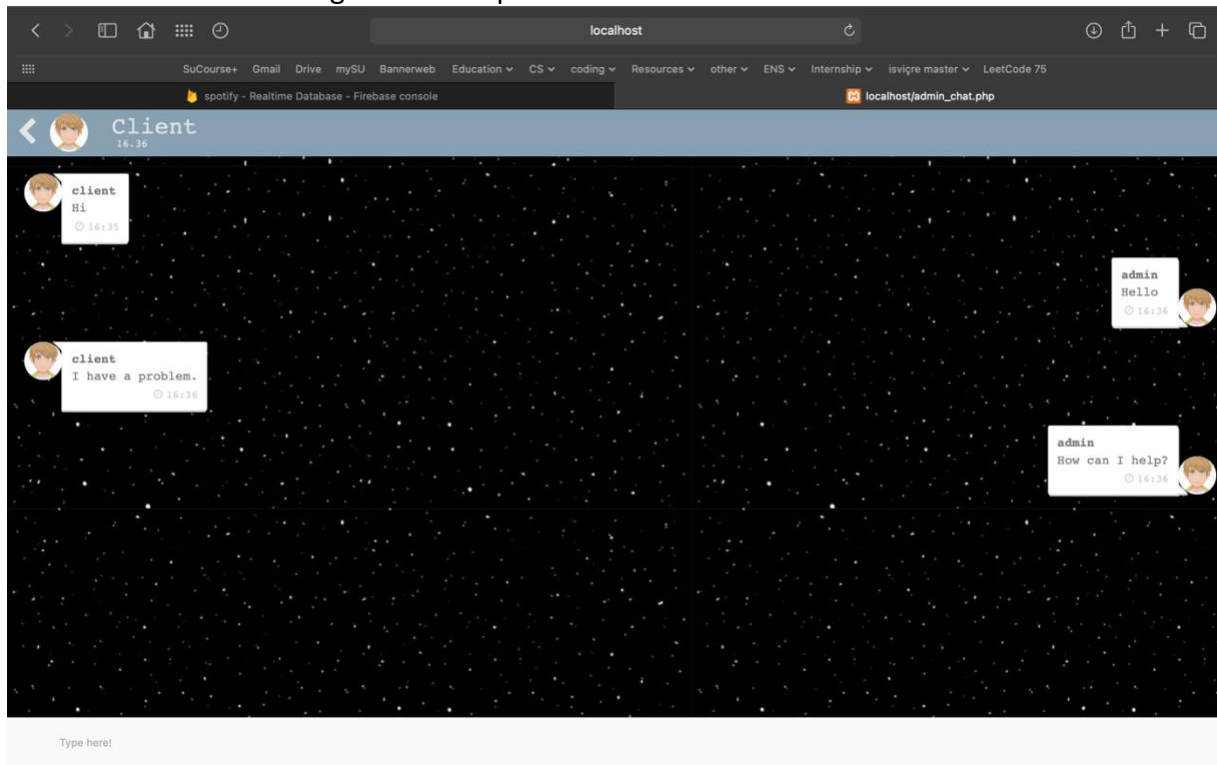

Now, the admin can see the messages coming from the client and respond to them.

The message is sent:
